

This PDF is double-width: the slide occupies the left half of every page, the speaker notes the right half.

Welcome! This is the notes half — only you see it. The audience window receives a cropped slide-only copy of this same PDF. Turn pages with the arrow keys or the buttons; the timer starts on your first page turn (reset it with the button next to it). Drag the separators to resize the three panes; double-click a separator to reset.

Use Browse PDF... to open your own double-width build — for example beamer's `show notes on second screen=right`.

Slides without a `\note{}` show an empty right half in the console — that is content, not a bug. The next-slide pane on the far right previews what comes next.
